

Splendor(un)veiled

TOP OFF YOUR BRIDAL LOOK WITH A PERFECTLY PAIRED HAIRSTYLE AND VEIL.

photos by Jamie Turner, Turner Photography Studio

Romantic ringlets

Bella Salon and Spa
Hair by Owner Tammy Shindle;
Makeup by Stylist and Color Specialist
Karen Nave; Model Bettina Barresi;
Veil courtesy of TLC Bridal Boutique

Bettina's naturally curly hair lent itself beautifully to a soft, romantic style — which is lovely paired with the undulating edges of this two-tier veil. Salon owner Tammy Shindle used a curling iron to shape large curls, pinning them softly at the crown of Bettina's head for a look that is not overdone.

Two-tier veil by Giselle Bridal Veils with gold chain stitch scalloped and floral edges with silver and clear seed beads, rhinestones and pearls.

When it comes to completing your wedding-day look, your hairstyle and veil are like icing on the cake. "There's just something about the magic of a veil," says Jackie Moore, sales manager for J&B Bridals in Chambersburg, Pa. "Once they put the veil on, that's when they really feel like this is for real. They feel like a real bride." It's that moment of completion that keeps veils popular, and today, trends run the gamut from chic, short cage veils to cathedral-length stunners. When placed in the hands of a talented stylist, your chosen accessory can beautifully complement your style and accent your nuptial theme.